NOTE PROVES GERMANY IS DESPERATE

FOUR MORE REBELS PAID THE PENALTY

J. Plunkett, E. Daly, M. O'Hanrahan and W. Pearce Shot in Dublin

PENAL SERVITUDE FOR SIXTEEN OTHERS

Their Sentences Were Commuted; Two Others Sent to Prison

Dublin, May 4.—(Delayed)—Four more rebel prisoners were sentenced to death by court-martial and shot this morning.

Fifteen other rebels were sentenced to death, the official statement adds, but later their sentences were commuted to ten years' penal servitude.

The following official communication was issued this (Thursday) afternoon:

"Four prisoners, Joseph Plunkett, Edward Daly, Michael O'Hanrahan and William Pearce, were sentenced to death and shot this morning after the sentence had been confirmed by the general commander-in-chief.

Sentences Commuted. The death sentences passed on fifteen other rebels were commuted to ten years' penal servitude. They are: Thomas Bewan, Thomas Walsh, Finian Lynch, Michael Mervyn, Dennis O'Callaghan, P. E. Sweeney, Patrick McNestry, Peter Clancy, William Tobin, George Irvine, John Doherty, J. J. Reid and John Williams.

Two others, Francis Fahey and Richard Davis, were sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

Joseph Plunkett, court-martialed and shot to death by order of the British government in Dublin yesterday, was one of the seven original signers of the proclamation of the 'provisional government of Ireland.' When Patrick H. Pearce, who called himself 'provisional president,' and Thomas J. Clark and Thomas Macdonagh met a similar fate, it was announced in cable dispatches that of the remaining four signers of the proclamation, Plunkett and James Connolly were in prison and S. Macdiarmid and E. Ceannit had not been accounted for.

Three Alive. Macdiarmid, who is in feeble health, and Ceannit and James Connolly apparently still are alive.

Plunkett was a member of the Roman Catholic branch of the famous Irish family of that name.

William Pearce was a brother of Patrick H. Pearce. He was a sculptor and once was a tutor in the Irish boys' school of which his brother was head master.

Edward Daly and Michael O'Hanrahan, also among the rebels executed yesterday, did not play prominent roles in the revolutionary movement so far as cable dispatches have indicated.

BERNSTORFF HOLDS NOTE MEETS DEMAND

Thinks States Should Be Satisfied With Offer Berlin Has Made

New York, May 5.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, received the German note by telegraph from the Sayville wireless station in his suite at the Ritz-Carlton hotel. He refused to discuss it.

It is known, however, that the German embassy view is that the note is all for which the United States asked; that it signifies a return to what has been termed 'cruiser warfare'—that is, the operation of submarines as cruisers, intercepting commerce with visit and search.

The embassy view is that in as much as no mention is made in the note of the question of armament, it is not a complicating feature.

ZEPPELIN DESTROYED OFF SCHLESWIG; ONE ALSO AT SALONICA

London, May 5.—Two more Zeppelins have been accounted for, one off the coast of Schleswig and the other at Salonica. This makes three Zeppelins destroyed in three days, the L-20 having been blown ashore on the Norwegian coast on Wednesday as it was returning from a raid on the coast of England and Scotland.

The Zeppelin caught yesterday off the coast of Schleswig was destroyed by one of the British light cruiser squadrons, it was announced officially to-day.

The Zeppelin accounted for at Salonica raided the city during the early hours of this morning, according to a Reuter dispatch from Salonica. The airship was subjected to a heavy fire and was reported to have been destroyed.

A later Reuter dispatch from Salonica states that the report of the destruction of the Zeppelin has been confirmed. Only one of the crew of 30 on the airship escaped.

PRES. WILSON HAS BEEN VERY PATIENT

For Year Has Endeavored to Have Germany Alter Methods

SEVERAL TIMES BREAK SEEMED UNAVOIDABLE

Washington, May 5.—Germany's diplomatic correspondence with the United States on the submarine issue has extended over nearly a year, and more than once has brought the two countries to a pass where a break seemed unavoidable. All along President Wilson has spoken primarily for the inviolable rights of Americans and generally for the rights of neutrals.

Germany has been restrained by a powerful public sentiment aroused against curtailing the effectiveness of her best weapon against her enemies, and President Wilson has in the cabinet and later in congress and by pro-German propaganda, conducted throughout the United States.

Submarine warfare did not actually enter the realm of diplomacy until after the destruction of the Lusitania. The accumulation of cases affecting Americans was taken up in the first note to Germany, which was dispatched on May 15, 1915. It characterized the attacks on the Falaba, Cushing, Gulf-light and Lusitania as a 'series of events which the United States has observed with growing concern, distress and amazement.'

It expressed the hope that submarine commanders engaged in torpedoing peaceful ships without warning were in such practices operating without the sanction of their government. The note closed with these words: 'The imperial German government will not expect the government of the United States to omit any word or act necessary to the performance of its sacred duty of maintaining the rights of the United States and its citizens and of safeguarding their free exercise and enjoyment.'

On May 28, 1915, Germany replied with a note which covered a wide range of argument and was held to be generally unsatisfactory. It alleged that the Lusitania had masked guns aboard; that she in effect was a British auxiliary cruiser; that her own company, aware of the dangers she risked in the submarine war zone, was in reality responsible for the loss of American lives. The note met none of the contentions of the United States so far as the sinking of the Lusitania and Falaba were concerned, although a supplementary note later did acknowledge that Germany was wrong in the attacks on the Cushing and Gulf-light, expressed regret for these two cases and promised to pay damages.

Resignation of Bryan. While the American reply to the note was being framed discussion in the cabinet resulted in the resignation of Secretary Bryan, who contended for a policy of warning Americans off belligerent ships. He resigned because he thought he could not sign the next note to Germany, which he feared would lead the United States into war. (Concluded on page 9.)

FLORINA, GREEK TOWN, OCCUPIED BY FRENCH; SOUTH OF MONASTIR

Athens, May 5.—Much significance is attached by the Greeks generally to the occupation by French troops of the Greek town of Florina, owing to its location being only 18 miles south of Monastir.

STATES WOULD BE ALLY OF GERMANY

Were She to Accept Latest Proposal, Says Oregon Newspaper

San Francisco, May 5.—Following are comments by coast papers on the note on submarine warfare Germany has sent to the United States.

The Eugene, Ore., Daily Guard: 'The conditions upon which Germany will maintain friendly relations with the United States are utterly unworthy of that great nation. We can not become her ally under the circumstances, and this is what she virtually demands. If this is the last word, then friendship ceases to be of value.'

Walla Walla (Wash.) Bulletin: 'The reply of Germany again sidesteps the main issue and puts up to this government the question of severing of diplomatic relations. It appears that Germany has not met the president's demands and that diplomatic relations will be severed unless he backs down.'

Oakland (Cal.) Tribune: 'The response of the German foreign office is not in graceful form, but this may be obscured under the transparently evasive fact that the war cloud is dispelled. Germany has yielded, conditionally at least, which removes the danger of an immediate rupture of diplomatic relations.'

Tecoma (Wash.) Daily News: 'The way is opened to the president and his advisers of avoiding a break with Germany, of obedience to the rules of the square deal and of putting an end to the riotous U-boat campaign. To follow it merely requires obedience by England to the same laws which Germany is asked to obey.'

GOVERNMENT WOULD BUY AND COMPLETE Q. AND SAGUENAY RY.

Ottawa, May 5.—It is stated that an additional supplementary estimate providing $4,000,000 for the purchase and completion of the Quebec & Saguenay railway will be brought down in parliament at once. The line is owned principally by Sir Rodolphe Borcht. The road would be made a branch line of the National Transcontinental.

VIENNA TELLS OF BATTLE IN ADRIATIC

Berlin, May 5.—A battle in the Adriatic between Italian and Austrian warships and aircraft is reported, in a statement received here to-day from the Austro-Hungarian admiralty. The statement also says Austro-Hungarian airships raided the Italian city of Ravenna.

WILSON IS QUITE PREPARED TO ACT

Need Not Go Before Congress Before Breaking With Germany

PROPOSAL OF BERLIN DISCUSSED BY CABINET

President Will Decide Only After Official Text Has Come

LANSING WOULD NOT SPEAK OF THE NOTE

Washington, May 5.—When the cabinet meeting broke up Secretary Lansing met all inquiries with the reply: 'I cannot discuss it at all at this time.'

Washington, May 5.—As the text came, the first portions of the German note were read by officials here with undisguised disappointment.

The unofficial copy was sent to President Wilson as rapidly as it was received. He had no engagements to-day outside of the cabinet meeting, which was ordered to be devoted almost exclusively to the German situation.

No action will be taken until the official text of the note has arrived here and been studied by the president and Secretary Lansing.

Wilson Prepared. The president already has discussed with his cabinet the steps to be taken in case the note should be found to be unsatisfactory.

The official text is expected to be here before Sunday, the anniversary of the sinking of the Lusitania. It is generally expected that whatever action is taken by the American government probably will come on that day.

The president already has informed congress of his intention to break relations with Germany in case her reply should be unsatisfactory, and therefore it is believed he has decided not to go before congress again before taking the action.

The unofficial copy was laid before the cabinet. One chief point for consideration seemed to be Germany's reference to the immunity of 'merchant vessels recognized by international law.' This was regarded as having possibilities of relating to the dispute over questions of armament and alleged instructions of the British admiralty to merchant-captains to attack submarines.

Needs Official Text. It was made plain that President Wilson would decide only after studying the official text.

AMERICAN MARINES WERE LANDED TO-DAY AT SANTO DOMINGO

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, May 5.—Marines were landed to-day from the American converted cruiser Prairie for the protection of the American legation.

The situation growing out of the attempt of factional leaders to overthrow the administration of President Jimenez is critical.

DEVLINE AND SMITH REMANDED AT REGINA

Regina, May 5.—Edward H. Devline, M. P. P. for Kintistino, and E. L. H. Smith, a former bank manager here, appeared again in police court this forenoon on charges growing out of the road work and were remanded for another week. J. B. Brown still is too ill to give evidence.

Clayton Peterson's bail on the perjury charge was fixed yesterday afternoon at $10,000, of which $4,000 is his own. There are two sureties of $3,000 each.

WEST OF THE MEUSE THE ENEMY FAILED

Succeeded Only in Entering Advanced Trenches North of Hill 304

REPULSED BY FRENCH SOUTH OF THE SOMME

Intermittent Artillery Activity East of Meuse and in Woevre

Paris, May 5.—West of the Meuse the Germans yesterday evening strongly attacked French positions north of Hill 304, according to the official statement issued this afternoon, but they were repulsed along the whole front attacked except at one or two points in the advanced trenches.

An attempted attack on the trenches at Cappy, south of the Somme, the statement adds, completely failed. East of the Meuse and in the Woevre there were intermittent bombardments.

South of Somme. The text follows: 'South of the Somme a coup de main attempted by the enemy on our trenches in the region of Cappy was completely checked.'

'West of the Meuse, after a bombardment of extreme violence, the Germans at the close of the day yesterday launched a strong attack on our positions north of Hill 304. They were repulsed along the whole front attacked, but gained a footing at some points in our advanced trenches.'

East of Meuse. 'East of the Meuse and in the Woevre there was intermittent artillery activity. The night was relatively calm on the remainder of the front.'

German Claims. Berlin, May 5.—The capture of several French trenches southeast of Haucourt, on the Verdun front, was announced to-day by the war office.

Repeated French attacks against a German position west of Deadman's Hill broke down.

ITALIAN STEAMSHIP SUNK BY SUBMARINE

Josef Agost Forherczeg Formerly Austrian; Crew Escaped; Master Went Insane

New York, May 5.—Details of the sinking of the Italian steamship Josef Agost Forherczeg, formerly an Austrian vessel, by a German submarine on April 23, when 150 miles off Land's End, Eng., and the rescue of the crew from open boats by the Norwegian steamship Pythia, were related by officers of the Pythia on the latter's arrival here to-day from London.

The Josef Agost Forherczeg, according to the Pythia's officers, was sighted first about two miles ahead, and at about the same time a submarine was seen. A torpedo was fired but missed the Italian steamship and the crew then took to the boats. The submarine then fired 22 shots into the steamship before she went down.

The Pythia rescued the men, 32 in all, and putting back, went as near as she could with safety to the English coast and signalled to shore and the crew were landed in fishing boats. The captain of the Josef Agost Forherczeg, the last man to leave his ship, went insane and was taken ashore under guard to prevent him from committing suicide.

NORWEGIAN SCHOONER BURNED BY GERMANS; SAILORS WERE SAVED

London, May 5.—The Norwegian schooner Mars, while bound for England with pit props, was stopped and burned by a German cruiser, says a dispatch from Copenhagen to the Exchange Telegraph Company. The crew was saved.

The general opinion in Scandinavia, the dispatch adds, is that German submarine warfare against merchant ships is on the wane. This method of warfare is held to be responsible for the great rise in the price of steamship shares on the stock exchanges in the last few days.

GERMAN GOVT. ASKS UNITED STATES TO LIFT THE BLOCKADE

Tries to Force President Wilson to Loosen Strangling Grip of Allies; Threatens That in Event of Failure, the Submarine Savagery Will Be Continued.

'Accordingly, the German government is confident that in consequence of the new orders issued to the naval forces the government of the United States will also now consider all impediments removed which may have been in the way of mutual co-operation toward restoration of the freedom of the seas during the war, as suggested in the note of July 23, 1915, and it does not doubt that the government of the United States will now demand and insist that the British government shall forthwith observe the rules of international law universally recognized before the war, as are laid down in the notes presented by the government of the United States to the British government on December 28, 1914, and November 5, 1915.'

'Should steps taken by the government of the United States not attain the object it desires, to have the laws of humanity followed by all belligerent nations, the German government would then be facing a new situation in which it must reserve to itself complete liberty of decision.'—German note to United States.

Text of Note. Berlin, May 5.—(By wireless via Sayville).—The text of the note from the German government in reply to the American government respecting submarine warfare was delivered to United States Ambassador Gerard yesterday afternoon. The missive was handed the ambassador by Gottlieb von Jagow, the foreign secretary. It consists of nineteen sections.

The following is the text of the German note to the United States: 'The undersigned, on behalf of the imperial German government, has the honor to present to his excellency, the ambassador of the United States, Mr. James W. Gerard, the following reply to the note of April 20, regarding the conduct of German submarine warfare: 'The German government handed over to the proper naval authorities for early investigation the evidence concerning the Sussex as communicated by the government of the United States, and judging by the results that the investigation has yielded, the German government is alive to the possibility that the ship mentioned in the note of April 10 as having been torpedoed by a German submarine is actually identical with the Sussex. Reserves Communication. 'The German government begs to reserve further communication on the matter until certain points are ascertained which are of decisive importance for establishing the facts of the case. Should it turn out that the commander was wrong in assuming the vessel to be a man of war, the German government will not fail to draw the consequence resulting therefrom.'

'In connection with the case of the Sussex, the government of the United States made a series of statements, the gist of which is the assertion that the incident is to be considered but one instance of a deliberate method of indiscriminate destruction of vessels of all sorts, nationalities and destinations by German submarine commanders. 'The German government must emphatically repudiate the assertion. The German government, however, thinks it of little avail to enter into details in the present stage of affairs, more particularly as the government of the United States omitted to substantiate the assertion by reference to concrete facts.'

Restraints! 'The German government will only state that it has imposed far-reaching restraints upon the use of the submarine weapon solely in consideration of neutral interests, in spite of the fact that these restrictions are necessarily of advantage to Germany's enemies. No such consideration has ever been shown neutrals by Great Britain and her allies.'

'The German submarine forces have had, in fact, orders to conduct the submarine warfare in accordance with the general principles of visit and search and the destruction of merchant vessels recognized by international law, the sole exception being the conduct of warfare against enemy trade, carried on in enemy freight ships encountered in the war zone surrounding Great Britain. With regard to these no assurances have ever been given to the government of the United States. No such assurances are contained in the declaration of February 8, 1916. Errors Admitted. 'The German government cannot admit any doubt that these orders were given or are executed in good faith. Errors actually occurred. They can in no kind of warfare be avoided altogether. Allowances must be made in the conduct of naval warfare against an enemy resorting to all kinds of ruses, whether permissible or illicit. 'But apart from the possibility of errors, naval warfare, just like warfare on land, implies unavoidable dangers for neutral persons and goods entering the fighting zone. Even in cases where the naval action is confined to ordinary forms of cruiser warfare, neutral persons and goods repeatedly come to grief. 'The German government has repeatedly and explicitly pointed out the dangers from mines that have led to the loss of numerous ships. German Proposals. 'The German government has made several proposals to the government of the United States in order to reduce to a minimum for American travelers and goods the inherent dangers of naval warfare. Unfortunately the government of the United States would have been instrumental in preventing the greater part of the accidents that American citizens have met with in the meantime. 'The German government still stands by its offer to come to an agreement along these lines. Cannot Abandon It. 'As the German government repeatedly declared, it can not dispense with the use of the submarine weapon in the conduct of warfare against enemy trade. The German government, however, has now decided to make a further concession, adapting methods of submarine warfare to the interest of neutrals. 'In reaching this decision the German government is actuated by considerations which are above the level of the disputed question. Principles of Humanity. 'The German government attaches no less importance to the sacred principles of humanity that the government of the United States. It again fully takes into account that both governments for many years co-operated in developing international law in conformity with these principles, the ultimate object of which has always been to confine warfare on sea and land to armed forces of belligerents and safeguard as far as possible noncombatants against the horrors of war. But although these considerations are of great weight, they alone would not under present circumstances have determined the attitude of the German government. For in answer to the appeal by the government of the United States on behalf of the sacred principles of humanity and international law, the German government must repeat once more, with all emphasis, that it was not the German, but the British government, which ignored all accepted rules of international law and extended this terrible war to the lives and property of noncombatants, having no regard whatever for the interests of neutrals, and noncombatants who through this method of warfare have been severely injured. ### RECRUITING DEBATED BY THE SENATORS

Senator Mason Thinks There Should Be Registration;
His Figures

Ottawa, May 5.—During the debate on recruiting in the Senate yesterday,
Senator Loughheed, the government leader, stated that the government at the present time does not contemplate any system of registration.

The debate was introduced by Senator Mason, Toronto, who called the attention of the Senate to the unsatisfactory results attending the present methods of recruiting in Canada. The number of men eligible and who were willing to enlist was fast becoming exhausted, and of the men who were offering themselves for enlistment a large proportion were rejected for physical reasons, thus entailing much unnecessary trouble and expense.

It was apparent that a large number of men of military age could be spared without interfering with industries essential to the progress and welfare of the country. He inquired, what if any steps the government is taking or is contemplating to remedy this existing evil by adopting some system of registration.

In his previous speech he had drawn attention to inequalities in recruiting and would endeavor to give proof. He would divide the people of Canada into four classes—Canadians of English, Scottish or Irish descent, Canadian-French, immigrants from the United Kingdom, and foreign-born people in Canada.

His Figures.
He estimated the population of Canada at 7,000,000. Of these there were 667,000 English-speaking Canadian-born males between 18 and 45 years, and of these 45,000 had enlisted, or about 13 per cent. of the total number, and they constituted 28 per cent.
of the total enlistments.

Canadian-born French numbered 445,000, and of these, 12,000 had enlisted, or about three per cent. forming 4 1/2 per cent. of the total enlistments.
British-born from the United Kingdom numbered 207,000 and of these 180,000 had enlisted, or 86 per cent.
and they provided 61 per cent. of the total enlistments.

The foreign-born in Canada numbered 306,000, of whom 18,000 had enlisted, or about 6 per cent., and they formed about 6 per cent. of the total enlistments.

Proposes Registration.
Senator Mason thought he could show that recruiting had been unsatisfactory, inasmuch as it was confined to certain parts of the country and to certain industries, and he thought his correspondence would show this. He proposed for Canada registration of all men of military age from 18 to 45, and to have them divided into classes according to their ability to serve at the front for war purposes or other purposes of the country.

Senator Choquette claimed Senator Mason's speech had corroborated the speech he had made some days before, and which had been greatly criticized.
Senator Daniel said he could not see how Senator Mason's plan of registration would accomplish what Senator Mason predicted.

Not Ready Yet.
Senator Power said he hardly thought that either of the Canadian parties was quite ready to adopt compulsion as yet. He doubted the need for conscription just yet, at any rate.
Senator Loughheed—The government at the present moment does not contemplate registration.

MISS FUNERALS.
London, May 5.—What the people of East London miss so much when they have relatives lost in the war is the funeral, declares the Bishop of London. He tells of a woman who had lost her husband in a ship disaster and who felt that she must do something, so she bought a wreath and placed it at the foot of Nelson's monument in Trafalgar Square.

UNIONS IN GERMANY.
Berlin, May 5.—A Bill was introduced in the federal council to-day following suggestion made in the Reichstag, exempting trades unions from the resolutions prescribed under the federal law for political organization.

GERARD WILL INQUIRE.
Washington, May 5.—Ambassador Gerard was instructed yesterday to inquire into published reports that Germany has offered to give Holland a ship to replace the liner Tubantia, sunk by a German submarine.

REV. BERNARD VAUGHAN SOUNDS WARNING NOTE

London, May 5.—Appropos of the widespread alarm caused by the revelation that the birth-rate of this country is the lowest in its history,
Father Bernard Vaughan, a noted Jesuit and pastor of one of the most fashionable parishes in London, said:
"I see everywhere on the arteries of our mammoth metropolis women burdened and bejewelled, in the daintiest of footwear—which you can see as far as the eye reaches—and the most perfect hats. In fact you would think that there was certainly money to throw away, and if you look a little longer you will find that there is a pet dog which could easily be replaced by two men in khaki as far as money goes."

"I do not complain about these things, but my country comes before the dainty wants of a frivolous class.
"The cradle is empty, and the church bench is empty. The church bench is empty because the cradle is empty.
When I was a lad the birth-rate was 37-40; to-day we have dropped to 15.5 per thousand. We are a nation traveling to the cemetery. Never was the marriage-rate so high; never the birth-rate so low; and that at a time when the cry is to replace the men we are losing."

"It is the mother we need to-day, and shall need more and more, and we want mothers in those villages whom God wants to become mothers."

DE CASTELLAINES HAS LOST DECISION AGAIN

Rome, May 5.—The validity of the marriage of Count Boni de Castellaine to Anna Gould, now Duchess de Talleyrand, was confirmed to-day in a decision by the commission of cardinals appointed to consider the claim of the count for annulment of his marriage.
Count de Castellaine has appealed several times to the Vatican for a ruling that his marriage was not valid.
His last appeal, which has now been decided against him, was filed in January of this year.

ANOTHER STRIKE IN U. S.

the machinists demanded ten hours pay for eight hours work.

Germany Evades. Germany's note on the submarine issue does not meet the United States demand. It is the usual quibble in terms which seem to indicate the fixed conviction in the mind of Berlin bureaucracy that President Wilson will not or dare not make good his threat and that he can be tricked into further protracted negotiations.

UNLUCKY ZEPPELINS.

This certainly is an off-week for Zeppelins. Within the last several days Germany has lost three, involving a loss of at least seventy combatants—dead, wounded, captured and interned—and probably a million dollars' worth of property. The raid over England on Tuesday night killed one British combatant and several non-combatants and wounded about forty others. The damage done apparently was small and could be covered by less than the cost of one Zeppelin.

One of the luckless Zeppelins was crippled by gun-fire over England and collapsed off Norway, to which it drifted. The second was destroyed yesterday by a British light cruiser squadron off Schleswig. The incident demonstrates the futility of Zeppelin attacks in daylight; also the fact that British war vessels are well equipped with anti-aircraft guns. The third Zeppelin was destroyed by gun-fire at Salonica.

The measures taken by the British authorities along the east coast of England and Scotland are plainly becoming more efficacious and it will not be long before that locality will be a very unhealthy place for Zeppelin excursions. As more guns are mounted and the gunners become more expert successful Zeppelin raids will become rarer. In daytime a Zeppelin has no chance at all against the anti-aircraft gun. The French have a weapon that can outrange it by a mile in altitude and we presume the British have an equally formidable weapon. The buoyancy of the average Zeppelin becomes dangerously diminished beyond 10,000 feet. It is essentially a nocturnal device, but even then if it is once picked up by searchlights and held in view until the batteries can turn loose its crew are exceedingly lucky if they escape.

ANOTHER SLIP.

The cat escaped from the bag at yesterday's proceedings of the Vancouver-by-election inquiry and was fully missed things before the Bowserite members of the committee recaptured it, put it back and pinned the opening. One of the witnesses, a Vancouver hotelkeeper, in the course of his evidence innocently remarked that the election operators who stayed at his place were offering to bet money on Tisdall. The faces of the majority members of the committee at this unsought and undesired explanation by the witness presented an amusing study. They tried heroically to redeem the situation, but their efforts only made it worse. The Colonist, likewise, this morning endeavored to nullify the effect of this witness's evidence by a fraud, double-column, black-faced heading intended to emphasize the wickedness of the Vancouver Liberals.

As its readers are aware, our contemporary never resorts to freaks on its front page unless it is seriously disturbed over the political outlook. Another witness expressed surprise that these men were permitted to enter the province by the immigration department. The witness apparently was aware that our immigration laws prohibit the entry of such people into British Columbia. Evidently the expedition was directed by an organization which, profiting from long experience, knew how to dodge our regulations. What machine did the manipulating? What machine has been importing pluggers at every election in this province for years? What machine has such an intimate knowledge of the Rogue's Gallery in Seattle? Only the Bowser machine. Ten dollars per man? Why, that we recall, is the very stipulation mentioned in the correspondence between Harry Price and the Vancouver Bowser organizer in connection with the election of 1912, which has been published in these columns several times. As a matter of fact, the whole clumsy conspiracy exploded itself before the first witness had got half through his story. When "Kelty" swore he voted for Macdonald, the "wet" candidate, he wrecked the whole plot, for Mr. Bowser made his announcement on prohibition three days after the Vancouver by-election only because he believed that the prohibitionists had supported Mr. Macdonald and that Mr. Tisdall was generally regarded as the "wet" candidate. Incidentally, we may safely conclude that as a result of yesterday's experience, more Bowser witnesses will be permitted to give evidence before the committee without first having joined Mr. Bullock-Webster's class.

A STUPID SUBTERFUGE.

The stupidity and hypocrisy of Germany's contention that her systematic campaign of murder and piracy at sea was in retaliation for Great Britain's "attempt to starve millions of Germans into submission," have long been apparent to the neutral world. Aside from the fact that the blockade is a legitimate means of warfare, every school-boy knows or ought to know that it was not until after Germany announced her "submarine blockade" of the British Isles in February, 1915, and her determination to torpedo every ship that left or approached British shores, whether neutral or belligerent, freight or passenger, that the allies decided to use fully the advantages their superior sea power gave them.

As a matter of fact, the German submarine campaign was merely an application to the sea of one of the cardinal Prussian principles of war, Von Tirpitz thought that it would bring Great Britain to her knees. No German publicist ever defended it on the ground that it was a form of reprisal. It always was declared to be the potent striking arm of the "invincible German navy" that would eliminate "proud Albion" from the struggle. At the same time the German chancellor and the cackling chorus of the press under the baton of the government were declaring that the blockade of the allies was a failure—an assurance which was repeated, though less enthusiastically by the chancellor less than a month ago in the Reichstag. We quote the following characteristically Prussian expression of opinion by Baron Zeldits in "Der Tag" early last month as an ironical commentary on the hypocritical whine in the German note of today about Great Britain's blockade policy:

"Frederick the Great cared as little about the White Guard in history as Bismarck. When the enthusiasm of the German people in 1870 was threatening to die down in the continued absence of news from Paris it was Bismarck who ordered the bombardment of the capital. Our present statesman cannot do better than follow Bismarck's example in order to maintain and strengthen the will of the German people for victory.

"More frightful means are continually being introduced in warfare, and everything-making warfare, and civilization is being driven out. Civilization and humanity have risen against the manner in which the war has been prosecuted, and there have been sentimental effusions from Germans ordinarily free from such emotions. All this has now been obliterated in the decision of the Reichstag committee on submarine warfare. The German people may therefore trust that they will not have to surrender the complete application of even the most fearful means of war if the use of them helps us to win."

Germany tells the United States, in effect, that she will cease her submarine "frightfulness" if the president will insist upon Great Britain raising the siege of the Huns. They hold it to be contrary to the principles of humanity to encompass a nation about and endeavor to starve it into submission. Which recalls the remorselessness with which Bismarck not only pressed the siege of Paris in 1870, but the brutality with which he treated the representative of the French people who attempted to obtain terms from him during those terrible days for France. We believe it was forty thousand Parisians that the then agents of Kultur starved to death. The mills of the gods have been grinding for forty years. Nomen est omen!

Sir Robert Borden says it was not his Shell Committee, but Sir Sam Hughes called it his Shell Committee, and Sir Sam is a member of Sir Robert Borden's government. In any case the Shell Committee appears to have played a "shell game" upon the British government and that at a time when the Empire was fighting for its life and for the freedom of its people. Surely at such a time every patriot should have been above "proffitering" on either a petty or a gigantic scale.

Probably the most notable journalistic feat of the war was the recent visit of a correspondent of the Russian newspaper "Retch" to Germany. He used a false passport, underwent a searching inquisition at the German border and spent ten days in the empire visiting Berlin and other centres. He posed as a neutral business man. Upon leaving Germany he contributed a series of interesting articles to his paper.

The Hunnish armies are reported to be sick of the war now that all opportunities for gathering loot are past and fear has entered the hearts of the beasts that there is a possibility of the allied forces, including Russians with heavy feet, crossing into Germany. They do not relish the thought of others dominating and meeting out to them as they measured to the people of Belgium and northern France.

When Pluta Pete is brought over to give his testimony that he voted for Macdonald, against "Tisdall," and bet his money on the government candidate, we suppose he will be taken before Mr. Bullock-Webster also in order that that active Bowserite and conscientious lawyer may have an opportunity to admonish him to "tell the truth and shame the Grits!"

Some of the Russian soldiers are said to wear No. 15 shoes. Just the very implement to apply to the stern of the All-Highest when the time is opportune.

The German reply to U. S. in a nutshell is: "Unless you become an ally of ours and compel Great Britain to withdraw her fleet from the war we will murder your citizens."

We are reminded that Sunday will be the first anniversary of the sinking of the Lusitania. The vessel was sunk on May 7.

The Bowser government in its desperation would be a joke if it were not creating a situation that, given another term in power, means disaster for the province.

Bowser presents his compliments to Thomson and hopes that the hon. gentleman will withdraw his opposition to the long-deferred and much-discussed prohibition bill.

Three Zeppelins in three days is good work. All instruments of "frightfulness" are passing through troublous times.

The question is: Will President Wilson be tempted to argue the point further? Yes; now the crisis at Washington seems to be genuine.

NOW OR NEVER.

By Oliver Wendell Holmes Listen, young heroes, your country is calling! Time strikes the hour for the brave and the true!

Now, while the foremost are fighting and falling, Fill up the ranks that have opened for you.

You whom the fathers made free and defended, Stain not the scroll that emblazons their fame; You whose fair heritage spotless descended, Leave not your children a birthright of shame!

Stay not for questions while Freedom stands gasping; Wait not till Honor lies wrapped in his pall!

Brief the time—meeting by swift the hand of change— "Off for the wars" is enough for them all!

Break from the arms that would fondly caress you! Hark! 'tis the bugle blast! Sabres are drawn; Mothers shall pray for you, fathers shall bless you; Maidens shall weep for you when you are gone!

Never or now! cries the blood of a nation— Poured on the turf when the red rose should bloom. Hark! 'tis the day and the hour of salvation! Never or now! peals the trumpet of doom.

WAR LAW ON THE GREAT LAKES.

Philadelphia Bulletin. Orders issued by the government at Ottawa for the search of American vessels on the Great Lakes entering Canadian ports and the seizure of citizens of enemy nations found on them, suggest the possibilities of war at the very doors of the United States. Not that there is any likelihood of serious controversy arising out of these orders although they may result in some inconvenience to shipping, but there is a reminder offered that a nation next door to the United States, geographically in a situation like our own, already is in the war and playing a prominent part.

The isolation of the United States by reason of the reason of the ocean is likely to be exaggerated. It may safely be said that only the dominant power of the great battle fleet of England has kept the war thus far from our very doors. Canada would have been a rich prize, and it is not at all certain that the neutrality of the United States would have counted more than that of Belgium in fact, there are evidences that it has been as lightly regarded.

THE GREAT OLD MOTHERLAND.

Ottawa Citizen. The Motherland has built its matchless navy and mercantile marine under free trade. It has recruited, trained and equipped a voluntary army on a par with the national armies of the continent. It has kept financially sound, paying for the British part in the war, and financing the rest of the Empire and a big slice of some allies' war expenditure, without departing from conservative finance. With almost unlimited credit, the Mother-

DOUBLE JOINTED CO-OPERATION

Mr. Manufacturer: The local dealer has the final word as to whether your goods sell in large or small quantities. You need his co-operation. He does not believe that advertising in mediums of "national circulation" helps him much, and he does not enthrone over goods so advertised. That's a condition, not a theory. To argue about whether he is right or wrong, is unprofitable. You need his co-operation. If you advertise in the merchant's local newspapers you comply with his idea and gain his support. You get his co-operation. Co-operation is an operation at which more than one must operate. —Get that!

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times: May 5, 1911.

The steamer Pilot was arrested in Port Angeles this morning for an alleged infraction of the American marine law. The facts of the case are similar to those of the Lorne. The Pilot picked up the American barque Valley Forge off the coast of Vancouver Island, and towed her in Canadian waters till she reached Race Rocks, where she crossed over, and was taken into Port Angeles. The customs officers at once arrested the Canadian vessel.

William Fisher, J. P. of Esquimalt, died last night at the residence of his son-in-law, Hon. C. E. Pooley. He deceased was born in 1811, and in 1832 became junior partner in William Fisher & Sons, Liverpool, owners of the line of steamers which were superseded by the Allan line. He was elected to the Liverpool Town Council in 1848. In 1860 he came to B. C. He was returned for Esquimalt to the legislature in 1874, and married the second daughter of John Birch, a Manchester cotton spinner.

DAIRYMEN MEETING

Third Annual Gathering of Pacific Northwest Association of Dairymen Convenes on May 12 in Vancouver.

The third annual meeting of the Pacific Northwest Association of Dairymen and Milk Inspectors will be held in the Hotel Vancouver next Friday and Saturday, May 12 and 13, when, among other interesting addresses, there will be that of the president, Prof. W. T. McDonald, live stock commissioner of British Columbia, and of Dr. S. F. Tolmie, Dominion live stock commissioner for British Columbia. The latter will speak on "Dominion Health of Animals and Live Stock Branches." A great number of other good addresses will be given. Dr. F. F. Wearbrook, president of B. C. University, will give a talk on "Milk and Its Relation to Public Health," and relevant to the same matter will be the discussion by Dr. A. Knight, chief veterinarian of British Columbia, of this city, on "Intradermal Test for Bovine Tuberculosis."

It is interesting to note that of the twenty-four addresses to be given on subjects of interest to dairymen eighteen will be by men from the United States who are authorities in their special topics. Of the six addresses by Canadians four will be residents of Victoria and district, S. H. Shannon, of Cloverdale, being the fourth. The other speaker from British Columbia is Dr. H. T. Underhill, medical health officer of Vancouver. It is interesting to note that among the leading speakers from "the other side" is Ernest Kelly, who has charge of the market milk investigation, U. S. department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

CORRIG COLLEGE.

Was First Opened on Present Site Twenty-Five Years Ago To-day.

Twenty-five years ago to-day the present buildings comprising Corrig college were opened at Beacon Hill park, by the lieutenant governor.

Among the speakers on that occasion were Hon. John Robson, the premier, H. C. Beeton (agent general), and Hon. D. W. Higgins, the speaker. Principal Church, in welcoming the visitors, pointed out that the college was the oldest of its kind in British Columbia, dating back to the sixties, and having been successively conducted by Archdeacon Woods and Hogg, in the archdeaconry, and later on by the Rev. C. J. Brenton, first at Ross Bay, and then at its old home at Vancouver House.

Beware of Imposter.—A warning is issued by the local detective department to storekeepers with regard to an individual masquerading in the uniform of a private, who is defrauding tradesmen by calling on them in various Canadian cities, and making small purchases for which he gives forged cheques for a large amount on the department of militia and defence, and collects the difference. The signature used is generally "Kennedy." The man is about 30 to 35 years of age, five feet six inches tall, weighing from 150 to 165 pounds, dark complexion, black hair, clean shaven and well set up. Time was when some merchants vied with each other in extravagance of statement in their ads. The wise merchants of today vie with each other in the ACCURACY of their statements about goods and values. Nowadays deliberate misrepresentation in advertising would surely and quickly kill any store indulging in it.

AT THE THEATRES

SCOTCH NIGHT AT PANTAGES
Hundreds of Scotsmen will attend at Pantages Theatre to-night when "Scotch Night" will be observed. The 50th Highlanders will parade there in a body accompanied by the pipe band, which also will play during the Highland dance by the members of the Junior Revue of 1916. The Great Howard, who has been doing a good deal in the city this week to aid recruiting, and in helping the returned soldiers, ought to get a big reception; and he will sing for the benefit of the audience the patriotic "sons of his own composition." "Till Be a Long-Long Way From Home." Large crowds are expected and all those seeking good seats should take care to be there early. The vaudeville bill is a big one and occupies fully two hours.

ROYAL VICTORIA THEATRE
The attraction at the Royal Victoria Theatre again to-night and to-morrow will be John Barrymore in a five-reel Famous Players feature "The Lost Bridegroom." The bars recital of the chief events in this story will not begin to convey an idea of the rich comedy which this inimitable farceur has injected into the play, both in the society scenes which show Bertie in his natural surroundings, and in the rest of the film which takes him to the slums and the den of thieves. Nor is the story without its thrills and suspense—witness the plunge of Bertie and the crook down the flight of stairs.
An Eclair Journal, a good comedy and an educational reel, showing the making of munitions in England, finish off an all round good programme.

DOMINION THEATRE
Beautiful Hazel Dawn, who deserted musical comedy to become a Famous Players star, returned to the footlights for a brief time not long ago. At the Dominion theatre she is appearing to-day and to-morrow in "The Saleslady." For this production the stage was erected in the Famous Players studio and the members of the chorus of one of New York's most celebrated musical comedies was especially engaged to do its turn before the camera while the orchestra played one of the popular tunes that all Broadway is whistling.

This, however, is not the only instance where realism has been resorted to in this picture. Before Helen, the character played by Miss Dawn, becomes a stage favorite she is a sales girl in a big department store. For these scenes, one of New York's most far-famed department stores was placed at the disposal of Frederick Thomson, who directed the picture. Three hundred of the store's employees were engaged to take part in these episodes in order to insure their being staged with just the right touch. It is the first time that a great department store has ever been used in this way by a motion picture company, the average producer preferring to erect a little scene in his studio which will give the general effect of a department store.

In "The Saleslady" Miss Dawn goes through many vicissitudes. She is a young country girl whom poverty has driven to the city in search of work. She goes to a cheap boarding house, but is soon dislodged of her last penny in the effort to save the life of a consumptive girl in the house. Helen marries a wealthy young chap who is promptly disinherited by his father for wedding a shop girl. He is injured and Helen is forced to go on the stage in order to earn a living. She is successful after a time and wins high laurels. It is during her stage career that she meets a man whose influence on her later life is all-important.

Miss Dawn is supported by Irving Cummings, Clarence Handysides, Arthur Morrison, Dorothy Rogers, Janet Findlay and several others of equal prominence.

BIG CHORUS SINGING

Performance by Hanby's Choir Next Tuesday Anticipated With Pleasure.

Under the expert leadership of Jackson Hanby, the chorus work for the big concert to be given next Tuesday evening in the First Presbyterian church is rapidly nearing the perfect point. The men's chorus of twenty-four voices is making tremendous headway, and musicians who have heard the rehearsals say that the ensemble is one of the finest for its size that has ever been heard in the city. This is Mr. Hanby's first concert in Victoria, and the musical world is looking forward with a considerable amount of critical expectancy to the performance of Tuesday next, when he will make his debut here as conductor. Mr. Hanby is well known in the nearby cities, where "Hanby's Choirs" have carried off the shield for several years in succession.

Soldiers in uniform will be admitted to the concert on Tuesday free. The choir will consist of 150 voices all told. The instrumentalists will be Mrs. J. R. Green, violinist; Mr. Charlesworth, pianist. The solo vocalists will be Mrs. Hudson, Mrs. Longfield, Mrs. Macdonald Fahy and Mr. Butterworth. The men's chorus will give three patriotic numbers. Full details of the programme will be published in the course of a day or so.

HOW TO GET STRONG

A Simple Remedy
Whatever the cause, we want to say to every person who needs strength, you need Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, as it is the most efficient strength creator we have in our store. Here is proof from Dorchester, Mass.:

"I don't know what we would do without Vinol in our family. I was weak, nervous and run down as the result of an operation, and Vinol restored my strength. Then Grandmother had a nervous breakdown, and Vinol built her up and restored her health and strength after everything else had failed. We have used Vinol for 13 years in our family, and would not be without it in the house." Myrtle L. Healy, Dorchester, Mass.

We believe in Vinol because we know it is a great strength creator—due to the extractive medicinal elements of fresh cod livers, without oil, combined with peptonate of iron and beef peptone, all dissolved in a pure medicinal wine, so we always return the purchase money if Vinol fails to benefit those who buy it. D. E. Campbell, druggist, Victoria, B. C.

Subbs: "I believe Swamphurst is unhealthy. Since we have lived out there my wife can scarcely speak above a whisper." Henpecke: "Do you suppose I could find a house there?"

SHORT SITTING OF THE LEGISLATURE

Absence of the Premier Means That Nothing Important is Dealt With by the House

Legislative Press Gallery. May 4. With the premier in Vancouver at the university convocation little was done in the House this afternoon...

On Mr. Williams's bill designed to obtain a record of importations of workmen, the object being to ensure that the places which should be open for returned soldiers at the close of the war shall not be taken up by aliens...

Another bill which the member for Newcastle has on the order paper was held over until the Speaker considers whether or not it is in order. This relates to trades unions, forbidding discrimination against members of unions and compelling employers to deal with committees of the men appointed for the purpose.

A bill of Mr. Place's for fortnightly payment of wages and payment in legal tender when five miles or more from a town or city was also held over for decision as to whether it is similar to a bill of the same character which was ruled out of order in 1914 as being one affecting trade which should have originated in committee of the whole.

Mr. Place asked if the minister had any idea of the area of the kelp deposits. Hon. Mr. Ross had none. He presumed those concerned would collect data and eventually inform the department.

Mr. Place remarked that in spite of the reduction last year no one seemed to have five dollars to take a chance on it. The government, having introduced legislation a year ago, should have some sort of information about the matter.

Mr. Ross excused the government on the score of the newness of the problem. Michael Manson (Comox) stated that there had been experiments at Quathlaid Cove, but the machinery was not suited to the reduction of kelp in economical commercial quantities, and for lack of capital the matter was dropped for the time.

Mr. Brewster, from his experience of the coasts of British Columbia, said there were tremendous kelp areas in the inner channels, millions of tons going to waste. The industry would be a desirable one, and the fishing industry would be assisted by the removal of the kelp. So long as farmers along the coasts were not prevented from getting kelp for fertilizer there could be no objection to the bill.

Mr. Williams protested against the granting of concessions and the nursing of trusts, which had become a crime in this province. One after another of these would-be monopolists came along and imposed upon the government. The people who had not been legislated a year ago and now wanted this extension had not done anything yet.

On the bill amending the Succession Act, Mr. Brewster and Mr. Macdonald protested against the minister being given discretion to administer the act in his discretion, instead of the law being definitely fixed and impartially administered.

HUSBAND OBJECTS TO OPERATION

Wife Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Des Moines, Iowa.—"Four years ago I was very sick and my life was nearly spent. The doctors stated that I would never get well without an operation and that without it I would not live one year. My husband objected to any operation and got me some of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and commenced to get better and am now well, am stout and able to do my own housework. I can recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who is sick and run down as a wonderful strength and health restorer. My husband says I would have been in my grave ere this if it had not been for your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. BLANCHE JEFFERSON, 703 Lyon St., Des Moines, Iowa.

Before submitting to a surgical operation it is wise to try to build up the female system and cure its derangements with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it has saved many women from surgical operations.

Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice—it will be confidential.

SHIPPING BILL MAY DEFEAT REAL OBJECT

J. A. Cunningham Foresees Encouragement Only to Large Lumber Interests

"While I think it is a start in the right direction, the result probably will be to defeat the object for which it is intended, namely, the creation of a British Columbia mercantile marine. It seems to me inevitable that a few of the larger lumber concerns will take advantage of the terms of the bill, leaving a merchant marine company to start out with the remaining fragments of the trade. The business that will be left from the smaller mills and the lesser industries will not warrant such a company going into a venture of this kind."

In these words J. A. Cunningham, president of the British Columbia Manufacturers' Association, who was in Victoria yesterday, stated to the Times his opinion of the shipping bill in the light of its effect on the Merchant Marine Association scheme with which he has been particularly identified.

This body has been making time for the last two months while waiting to see how the government would deal with the matter, in view of the promise made at the recent elections. Continuing, Mr. Cunningham said, "It seems to me that if the large lumber companies built their ships under Canadian and subsidy for their own requirements, one consequence will be that the marine company will be left without charters after the war, when tonnage conditions become more normal. The mills will have no interest in the development of other industries of the province, and a marine company whose object is to build up an export trade will not have the freight offering to keep the vessels in business. What we had hoped for was a great public marine backed by the government, irrespective of any industry, and simply existing for the purpose of developing an export trade. Just how the scheme will work out as planned by the government remains to be seen."

"I do not think that the commission should be restricted to the question of water-borne transportation alone but that the government should transfer to it the powers exercised by the department of Railways over railways with a provincial charter, and make the body responsible for transportation matters. A provincial railway board would help in several respects, particularly if its personnel was such as to command itself to the confidence of the public in the same way that the Dominion board enjoys general respect. I do not think there will be enough work for the shipping commission to attract the best type of men, whereas if the principle was joined to that of railway administration, a better class of men would be prepared to serve."

"With regard to the bonusing of shipping plants, it is to be hoped that the government will make it clear whether the principle is to apply to existing shipbuilding industries in British Columbia. A large amount of money has been invested in what has hitherto been an unproductive industry, and our merchant marine scheme as we outlined it in the coast cities proposes to distribute the ships among existing plants, and so employ a large amount of labor in organization without loss of time. If the act is to apply to existing as well as future plants, it will be a fair and wise arrangement."

McQUILLAN HAS HAD MANY UPS AND DOWNS

Phillies' Twirler is a Champion at Pulling Come-backs

When it comes to pulling off come-backs, you gotta hand it to old George McQuillan, better known in the circles he adorns as "Big Mac." When the six-footer twirler joined the Phillies last year, and amassed a round dozen of the victories which gave his club the National League gongolion, it marked his third appearance in the uniform of the "beatnik back." At Jennings, Oklahoma's ex-outlaw statesman, has nothing on "Big Mac."

George was born in Brooklyn thirty-one years ago, May day, 1885. He was a hero among his companions of the Brooklyn kid lines, and at the age of nineteen he was offered a job with Paterson, then in the Hudson River League. The Silk City soon set the seal of its approval on George, and in 1905 Big Mac was offered a job with the Jersey City Skeeters. He wasn't quite ripe for the eastern league, and in June was sent to New Bedford, where "Rabbit" Maranville afterward got his start. In the New England League he won four or five games against seven lost. In 1906 he was recalled to Jersey City. His work with the Skeeters won him his first chance with the Phillies in 1907. On his first trip up to the big show George was used in only four games, and was then sent to Providence. He led all the pitchers of that fast league, winning nineteen games and losing only seven, and in September he was recalled to the Phillies. In the meantime George had also played winter baseball in Cuba, under the name of Mack.

In 1908 Big George was the star of the Philadelphia twirling staff, winning twenty-three games and losing seventeen. In 1909 George did not do so well, and the great reputation he had achieved in his first year in the big show began to go glimmering. In 1910 he was seriously ill for a time, and even after his recovery he was apparently minus his old ambition, self-confidence and "pep." Red Dooin, who had succeeded Billy Murray as pilot of the Phillies, decided to get rid of him, and he figured in the deal by which he, Moran, Grant and Humphrey were swapped for Lobert, Packert, Burns and Becker. The change to Cincinnati seemed to aggravate his condition, and he won only two games for the Reds in 1911. He was sold in mid-season to Columbus. He showed up fairly well in the American Association in 1912, and in 1913 he began the season like a demon. He had won twelve games for Columbus and lost only four by August, when he was traded to the Pirates. Last year the Phillies got him at the waiver price, and for the third time in his career Big Mac donned the garb of the Phillies. McQuillan has few equals in the big leagues in the matter of control.

CHAMPION GOTCH WILL PROBABLY QUIT MAT

Veteran is Said to Be Seriously Ill; Wonderful Career

Frank Gotch, world's champion heavyweight wrestler, has been forced to quit the circus with which he was traveling owing to illness. All hopes of the veteran returning to the mat to defend his title against Joe Stecher, have been abandoned. Gotch, it is said, is falling and now tips the scale at 185 pounds. His weight when in perfect trim is 210 pounds. The champion started in the mat game in 1899.

FRANK GOTCH

and gradually climbed to the top of the ladder. After winning the American title from Tom Jenkins, the Russian Lion, George Hackenschmidt, was imported to meet Gotch for the world's title. The match was staged in Chicago April 3, 1908. After two hours and three minutes of grappling the Russian forfeited the match, and the world's title. Since winning the title Gotch has never lost a match, although he lost a decision when he failed to throw Zyhsako in an hour at Buffalo. Having cleaned up everything in the world of mat fame the champion retired about two years ago, but a few months ago planned a comeback, and became attached to a circus, where he did his training, but the news of his illness probably means that he will retire from the game for good and forfeit his title to Joe Stecher, the foremost challenger.

"In self-defence against the illegal conduct of British warfare while fighting a bitter struggle for national existence, Germany had to resort to the hard but effective weapon of submarine warfare.

British Blockade.
"As matters stand the German government cannot but reiterate regret that the sentiments of humanity which the government of the United States extends with such fervor to the unhappy victims of submarine warfare are not extended with the same warmth of feeling to many millions of women and children who, according to the avowed intention of the British government, shall be starved and who, by sufferings, shall force the victorious armies of the central powers into ignominious capitulation. The German government, in agreement with the German people, fails to understand this discrimination, all the more as it has repeatedly and explicitly declared itself ready to use the submarine weapon in strict conformity with the rules of international law, as recognized before the outbreak of the war, if Great Britain, likewise, was ready to adapt the conduct of warfare to these rules.

Failed With Britain.
"Several attempts made by the government of the United States to prevail upon the British government to act accordingly failed because of flat refusal upon the part of the British government. Moreover, Great Britain again has violated international law surpassing all bounds in outrageous neutral rights. The latest measure adopted by Great Britain declaring German bunker coal contraband and establishing conditions under which English bunker coal alone is supplied to neutrals is nothing but an unheard of attempt by way of extortion to force neutral tonnage into the service of British trade war.

A Thrust Against States.
"The German people know that the government of the United States has the power to confine the war to armed forces of the belligerent countries in the interests of humanity and maintenance of international law. The government of the United States would have been certain of attaining this end had it been determined to insist against Great Britain on the incontrovertible rights of freedom of the seas. But as matters stand the German people are under the impression that the government of the United States, while demanding that Germany, struggling for existence, shall refrain the use of an effective weapon, and while making compliance with these demands a condition for maintenance of relations with Germany, confines itself to protests against illegal methods adopted by Germany's enemies. Moreover, the German people know to what considerable extent its enemies are supplied with all kinds of war materials from the United States.

Doom Feared.
"It will be understood, therefore, that the appeal made by the government of the United States to sentiments of humanity and principles of international law cannot under the circumstances meet the same hearty response from the German people which such an appeal otherwise always is certain to find here. If the German government nevertheless is resolved to go to the utmost limit of concessions, it has been guided not alone by the friendship connecting the two great nations for over 100 years, but also by the thought of the great doom which threatens the entire civilized world should the cruel and sanguinary war be extended and prolonged.

Peace Talk.
"The German government, conscious of Germany's strength, twice within the last few months announced before the world its readiness to make peace on a basis safeguarding Germany's vital interests, thus indicating that it is not Germany's fault if peace is still withheld from the nations of Europe. The German government feels all the more justified in declaring that responsibility could not be borne before the forum of mankind and in history if after twenty-one months of the war's duration the submarine question under discussion between the German government and the government of the United States were to take a turn seriously threatening maintenance of peace between the two nations.

Would Avoid Break.
"As far as lies with the German government, it wishes to prevent things from taking such a course. The German government, moreover, is prepared to do its utmost to confine operations of the war for the rest of its duration to the fighting forces of the belligerents, thereby also insuring the freedom of the seas, a principle upon which the German government believes, now as before, that it is in agreement with the government of the United States.

New Instructions.
"The German government, guided by this idea, notifies the government of the United States that German naval forces have received the following order:

"In accordance with the general principles of visit and search and the destruction of merchant vessels recognized by international law, such vessels both within and without the area declared a naval war zone, shall not be sunk without warning and without saving human lives, unless the ship attempt to escape or offer resistance."

"Freedom of Seas."
"But neutrals cannot expect that Germany, forced to fight for existence, shall for the sake of neutral interests restrict the use of an effective weapon if the enemy is permitted to continue to apply at will methods of warfare violating rules of international law. Such a demand would be incompatible with the character of neutrality and the German government is convinced that the government of the United States does not think of making such a demand, knowing that the government of the United States repeatedly declares that it is determined to restore the principle of freedom of the seas, from whatever quarter it has been violated.

The Proposal.
Accordingly, the German government is confident that in consequence of the new orders issued to the naval forces the government of the United States will also now consider all impediments removed which may have been in the way of mutual co-operation toward restoration of the freedom of the seas during the war, as suggested in the note of July 23, 1915, and it does not doubt that the government of the United States will now demand and insist that the British government shall forthwith observe the rules of international law universally recognized before the war, as are laid down in the notes presented by the government of the United States to the British government on December 28, 1914, and Nov. 5, 1915.

Liberty of Decision.
"Should steps taken by the government of the United States not attain the object it desires, to have the laws of humanity followed by all belligerent nations, the German government would then be facing a new situation in which it must reserve to itself complete liberty of decision.

"The undersigned avails himself of this opportunity to renew to the American ambassador assurances of highest consideration."
(Sgd.) "GOTTLIEB VON JAGOW."

Dr. Dumba, the Austrian ambassador, recalled at the request of President Wilson, sent to the Berlin foreign office a message which was represented as stating substantially that Mr. Bryan had intimated to the ambassador that the vigorous tone of the American notes should not be regarded in Berlin as too warlike.

Secretary Lansing, Mr. Bryan's successor, in his reply to the German note took issue with every contention Germany had set up in the Falaba and Lusitania cases, denied flatly the correctness of the contention that the Lusitania was armed and reminded Germany that it was the duty of the United States "to speak with solemn emphasis to call the attention of the imperial German government to the grave responsibility which the United States conceives that it has incurred in this tragic occurrence, and to the indisputable principle upon which that responsibility rests."

Not Abbreviated.
The note contended that the declaration of a submarine war zone could not abbreviate the rights of Americans on lawful journeys, and renewed the representations of the note transmitted to Germany on May 15.

Germany did not reply until July 5, and the rejoinder was preponderantly characterized by American newspapers, not as a note, but as an address by Foreign Minister von Jagow to the American contentions than did the former German note. It made a counter proposal to the United States agree upon a certain number of neutral passenger steamships for traffic between the United States and Europe which the government offered to guarantee against submarine attack provided they carried no contraband.

As a Club.
The nature of the reply was regarded officially as convincing evidence that Germany was holding the submarine warfare negotiations as a club over the United States to force the government into some action to compel Great Britain to relax the food blockade. President Wilson steadfastly refused to permit the diplomatic negotiations of the United States with one belligerent to become entangled with the relations of another.

The United States replied on July 21 that the German note was "very unsatisfactory." The United States, it declared, was "keenly disappointed."

Submarine attacks without warning endangering Americans and other neutrals were characterized as "illegal and inhuman" and "manifestly indefensible." The German retaliation against the British blockade, it maintained, must not interfere with the rights of neutrals, which the note declared were "based upon principles, and the principles are immutable."

It declared that the United States would continue to contend for the freedom of the seas, "from whatever quarter violated, without compromise and at any cost."

Deliberately Unfriendly.
The American note concluded with these words of warning:
"Friendship itself prompts us (the United States government) to say to the imperial German government that the repetition by the commanders of German submarines of acts in contravention of those rights must be regarded by the government of the United States, when they affect American citizens, as deliberately unfriendly."
The negotiations at this time were brought into the realm of "informal conversations" between Secretary Lansing and Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador. It was thought that much could be accomplished by personal contact which was lost in a cold exchange of documents.

Written Assurance.
Meanwhile the Arabic was sunk on August 18. It seemed that the United States and Germany had reached the point of a break. Then, September 1 came a rift in the threatening situation. Count von Bernstorff presented this written assurance to Secretary Lansing:
"Liners will not be sunk by our submarines without warning and without safety of non-combatants, provided the liners do not try to escape or offer resistance."
The United States had all along contended not for the safety of "liners" alone, but for the immunity of all peaceful merchantmen. The word "liners" was the complexing point in Germany's assurances and a complete agreement on what it actually meant never was reached.
More hopefulness was added to the situation when on October 5 the Arabic case was disposed of by Germany disavowing the sinking and giving renewed assurances that submarine commanders again had been instructed to avoid repetition of the acts which provoked American condemnation.

Back to the Lusitania.
With that the negotiations reverted to the Lusitania case. Negotiations were delayed by a seeming deadlock over the words in which Germany should acknowledge the illegality of the destruction of the liner, Germany unwilling to use the word "illegal," substituted a declaration that "reprisals must not be directed at others than enemy subjects."
A formal communication including such a delegation and expressing regret for the loss of American lives, assuming liability and offering reparation in the form of indemnity, was submitted to Secretary Lansing.

Armed Ships.
A favorable settlement of the controversy seemed in sight when all progress was reduced to nothing by Germany's declaration of a new submarine policy of sinking without warning all armed ships. That precipitated a new situation. President Wilson declined to close the Lusitania settlement while the other issue was pending, and there the whole matter rested while German submarine warfare was continued and new cases involving loss of American lives piled up.

Went Before Congress.
Finally the accumulation of evidence reached such proportions with the destruction of the Sussex that President Wilson dispatched another note to Germany and went before congress, reviewed the entire situation and made this declaration:
"I have deemed it my duty to say to the imperial German government that if it is still its purpose to prosecute relentless and indiscriminate warfare, the government of the United States is at last forced to the conclusion that there is but one course to pursue; and that, unless the imperial German government should now, immediately, declare and effect an abandonment of its present methods of warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels, this government can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations altogether."

It will be noted that the president went further than "liners" and said "passenger and freight carrying vessels."
The wording of the note to Germany was almost identical with the foregoing passage.

No Limit.
Reviewing the relentless submarine campaign, the last note declared:
"No limit of any kind has in fact been set to the indiscriminate pursuit and destruction of merchantmen of all kinds and nationalities within the waters, constantly extending, where these operations have been carried on; and the roll of Americans who have lost their lives on ships thus attacked and destroyed has grown month by month until the onerous toll has mounted into the hundreds."
"Again and again the imperial German government has given this government its solemn assurances that at least passenger ships would not be thus dealt with, and yet it has again and again permitted its unscrupulous commanders to disregard these assurances with entire impunity."
The president dispatched the note on the night of April 18, and addressed congress the following day. Since then the German reply has been awaited.

RUMORS OF RAIDER SOMEWHERE ON PACIFIC

Sado Maru Has Large Passenger List; Big Cargo on the Ixion

Two liners arrived from the Orient within a couple of hours of each other last evening, and both brought stories of precautions being taken on the voyage as a result of warnings received that a German raider was somewhere on the Pacific.

According to officers of the Sado Maru report was received by them that it was rumored a German steamer had escaped from Honolulu, and in consequence all precautions were taken to conceal the whereabouts of the liner.

The familiar figure of Captain Asakawa was again on the bridge when the Sado berthed at the outer wharf shortly before 7 o'clock.

The Sado brought the story of a tragedy at sea, one of the steamer passengers having committed suicide when the steamer was about half way across the Pacific.

The Sado Maru had good weather throughout the whole of the voyage, with the exception of a strong gale which started on the afternoon of April 25 and lasted for nineteen hours.

Many Passengers. The Sado had a total of 309 passengers, 42 first cabin, 16 second class, 24 intermediate and 217 in the steerage.

LET OTHERS DO IT.

To the Editor:—Amidst the outcry for compensation for license holders a great point is made of the alleged justice of compensation. I observe, however, no solicitude as to the justice or injustice of the taxpayers paying it. There are many thousands of inhabitants of the province who never enter a bar or spend a cent in liquor or reap a shadow of advantage from the trade. Why, then, should these people pay any compensation? In England the compensation is paid from a fund provided by the license holders themselves, it comes from the profits of the business and from the pockets of the customers. This is all right. Let the liquor dealers look for compensation to the people who have approved of and supported the trade.

COMBINES (?)

To the Editor:—While conversing with an old-timer the other day on the high price of living, which fact is brought home to us more and more from day to day, I was reminded of the fact that there were at the present time three large vessels on the way from Fortuna, loaded with 12,000 tons of sugar for the Vancouver refinery. Sugar has, as we all know to our cost, gone up steadily week by week and our friend in Vancouver gets credit for having something to do with it. Will the arrival of these 12,000 tons raise or lower the price? I understand there is an arrangement that the two refineries of Canada, east and west, do not interfere with one another's customers. That is, Vancouver does not sell beyond a certain point east, and vice versa. Is this a combine?

The same may be said of meat. Two or three men control the price of this most necessary article of food, which is higher than I have ever known it in the history of the country. To add to these articles of food, above all others, is fish. This is an outrage that calls for investigation. The one article of food that is a natural product, that we do not have to import, that is on the contrary reported by thousands of tons all over the continent. To one like myself who has lived in this fish-producing country for over 50 years, in the days when salmon were brought to the door for from ten to twenty-five cents each, I know whereof I am speaking. There can be no valid reason for robbing the people in this article, which is the last article to come into the province. The last straw to break the camel's back.

Lastly, flour. The two last harvests, it is said, were the largest in the history of the country. Has this fact lowered the price? No, but it has, on the contrary, raised the price. Why, I might ask, is it thus? Are those "Get Rich Quick Wallingford's" the cause? Is it a system of combines? Is there not a Dominion law against combines? Why is it not brought into action? Is it right that these hard times the needy should have their lot made harder for them than necessary? I should like answers to these simple questions if they can be answered.

EDGAR FAWCETT.

PROHIBITION AND POLITICS.

To the Editor:—Re prohibition for British Columbia which has been on the stage for the last six months or more, I attended a grand rally in Hamilton last and became a member that day in good faith to further the best interests of our province. I was pleased to see at this meeting the independent spirit taken by all parties to join together for the betterment of our province.

The first regulation was there was to be no party politics in connection with the organization. Perfectly right. A great deal of time has been spent, and we trust well spent, by many since this first meeting. Months go by, and the deputation appointed with large petition goes to Victoria to meet Sir Richard McBride on his return from England. The request was shelved, as his authority was gone. He surely knew and W. J. Bowser knew. Why were they not honorable enough to have told the deputation that Bowser was the one to be considered, and Dr. McGuire with them sailing back and forth a few times, when they knew that Bowser would be acting premier in a few days?

The organization is at work canvassing the electorate and in the canvass there was not to be any politics mentioned, which I feel satisfied was generally adhered to. Fifteen thousand or more signed up, still no answer from McBride, but he leaves us and Bowser is premier. He is forced to reorganize the cabinet, which caused three by-elections, and still no answer to the prohibition question till the 26th February, when M. A. Macdonald was elector with a 4,000 majority. And Tisdall's defeat couldn't be possible? Mr. Bowser, do you think we are blind to facts? If Mr. Tisdall had been elected would you have so humbly invited the arranged deputation down to Victoria on February 25, last year day? Where was Captain Tulk working all this time canvassing for Tisdall, even convincing the soldiers who had voted for Tisdall? And on last year day they have another nice sail to the capital and they meet so pleased, hand-to-hand they shake, eye to eye they see, and heart to heart of course. Gentlemen I am so pleased to see you, for I have another election in Victoria this week and he gave them a full meal of Conservative food and refers to the new government formed October 15, 1915. He tells them a lot of fine things he is going to do. Then he said that the ardent prohibitionists have not had enough patience, and besides you know that this Alberta act is not in accord with the Conservative party, and we are not educated up to the point of direct legislation. It would take away too much power from our cabinet, and we must be controllers. We must keep inviolate the principles of the Conservative party and I will tell you that I (Bowser) am sure that I can frame a bill that can beat any act that the Alberta people or anybody else or any of the 15,000 signers of the petition, and we will call it the Bowser act. (See Daily Province of March 1). I am Bowser and you must all obey and not question me either. If you want to hear me or have any request to make join the Conservative Club, and when I speak in any of our arranged meetings in the Orpheum theatre you must have a ticket to get in, and then if you interrupt me I have a number of policemen on hand. Yes, gentlemen, I will frame a bill and I will write a letter to my old faithful supporter, Mr. Rogers, with full directions. And they all drank it down. What had they to drink before this I do not know. Were they hypnotized? They would not have any "Johnny Dewar" and Cascade beer left from the Indian reserve or some other time.

Now equal rights to all men and favors to none is an old saying. Why should we all have to keep our mouths shut regarding politics and Mr. Bowser be allowed to address them on the whole from the Conservative point of view.

Was it not the same petition they had with them that was presented to the Liberals, Socialists and Labor people? Also to Sir Richard McBride? The bill as put before us Liberals and Labor people was a straight yes or no answer, then why should Bowser have the privilege of tearing it to pieces and frame one himself and call it after himself? The very name itself would defeat it in our province, and I feel he would like it to go down to defeat with himself.

ANDREW NELSON CAMERON, 1216 Pendrell St., Vancouver, B. C., May 4.

FARMING CONDITIONS.

To the Editor:—At the present time farmers are suffering from many disabilities. That most of these could be remedied by themselves if they would only co-operate does not alter the fact. But some conditions, though partly due to this lack of co-ordination, could only be corrected by government aid.

- 1. For his products the farmer does not receive his proportion of the price the consumer pays.
2. He does not know how to place his articles in the best market.
3. He does not so prepare what he has to sell as to render it attractive.
4. He does not grade it properly.
5. He cannot afford to keep it until high prices are attainable.
6. Through lack of management and co-operation with other growers he does not maintain an all-year-round supply of seasonable produce so the wholesaler cannot rely upon him to supply them, therefore they turn to those who can, outside the province.
7. His main dependence is the local market, which, being consequently congested, often brings him less than the cost of production.
8. He meets with keen competition from other growers, whereby prices are reduced to this unprofitable level.
9. This is partly due to his not keeping accounts whereby he does not know what his produce actually costs so he has no standard price below which he refuses to sell.
10. Buying in small quantities, the price he has to pay for boxes, sacks and other containers of his produce is too high.
11. He wastes time which might be better employed in the too often unskillful and slow packing of his goods for the market.
12. Freight rates handicap him if at a distance.
13. Cold storage is either unavailable or too costly.
14. Culls of all kinds are wasted instead of being turned into money.
15. Owing to unsatisfactory conditions quality is not aimed at.
16. He has foolish ideas of rivalry, even in style of living. He tries to go one better than his neighbor, often at ruinous cost. This would be obviated by co-operation, which eliminates rivalry.
17. He generally sells unfinished products, i.e., hay, grain, milk, roots, etc., instead of beef, pork, mutton, poultry, eggs, butter, etc., so he loses one profit and the value of the manure, without which he fails to raise good crops.
18. Where co-operation does exist, whilst it certainly improves conditions, it cannot be ideal because conditions:
(a) A number of small associations cut against one another and flood the market.
(b) The cost of management is too great for the amount of stuff they handle.
(c) Owing to lack of storage room they often have to throw goods on the market to make room for more, regardless of price.
To obviate all this it is necessary that all such associations should be merely branches of one central organiza-

ing executive, to regulate their sales so as not to clash, to find the best market, to buy boxes and containers in large quantities at lowest rates, and to regulate through foremen packers in each district the grade, size and supply of all articles grown.

Who should do all this? Manifestly whoever gains most from it. The farmer himself? No, for two reasons: 1. Though he gains vastly from this scheme the province gains far more. 2. Because he will never willingly embark in a project the initial cost of which is heavy. By so doing he pays money to reduce his freedom of action, and entrusts it to those who may, if he lives at a distance, be perfect strangers to him.

The province gains far more than the farmer. It is well known that the welfare of any community depends upon agriculture. A large population of really prosperous farmers are in all cases the backbone of the country, and where agriculture suffers, the whole community feels the pinch of bad times. The provincial government is the proper authority and the only one who can afford to inaugurate a comprehensive and economical system of co-operation to secure better prices for the farmer and to foster the home consumption of his products, so many of which are now imported through lack of such an organization.

It may be said: "Why give this aid to the farmers only?" The answer is that a prosperous farmer is the basis of a prosperous community, and that the primary outlay, even if large, is not a bonus for the farmer but an investment bearing vast interest as well as being paid back in due time by those whom it aids. The money can be repaid by the farmers, if necessary, by extended payments once the scheme has become a proved success and once the increased profits of the farmer warrant it, and not till then.

The interest is so great that it is sure to cover the principal without cost to the farmer if the government so agrees. How is this interest obtained? First—Increased profits to the farmer will encourage land settlement, which means more taxpayers.

Secondly—Increased population and increased profits secured from the land increase its value, so the revenue is also largely increased from this source.

Most farmers own more land than they use, which they will be able to dispose of at a good price to others, so they benefit indirectly as well as directly through this scheme. The trouble is that ever increasingly of late years a feeling of distrust of any government managed scheme has been growing. They have seen men sent here to teach them agriculture who knew nothing of local conditions and who, whilst serving their apprenticeship to these, have been drawing large salaries from the province. They have seen the head of the Department resign owing to a question raised in the House regarding his acquisition of pedigreed cattle.

They have seen coal mining shares given away and they have read the Judge's remarks about this; and they do not feel any increased confidence in an administration where such crude events occur.

But the time may come before long when confidence may be re-established under a regime not saddled with such a record, and if the way is made easy, profitable and pleasant for them, come into a properly controlled scheme which ensures them better prices whilst relieving them of the onerous and unprofitable labor of packing their goods and of finding markets for them. In 1907 the writer submitted a plan for government aided co-operation to the then minister of agriculture, with the result that the apple packing schools and later the pruning schools were established with good results, but there it has stopped.

Finding that nothing further was done, the writer sent two letters in 1909, one to Sir Richard McBride (then Mr. McBride, the premier) and the other to the Hon. E. J. McCreedy, then secretary of the Development League. By a coincidence these two letters were sent by their recipients upon the same day, and both appeared in the Sunday Issue of December 19, 1909, of the Colonist. The letter sent to Sir Richard McBride and by him sent on to the Colonist, was as follows:

"Orchard Conditions in B. C." "In December, 1907, at the North-western Fruit Growers' Convention held in Vancouver, many valuable medals were awarded for high quality apples. After keen competition the expert judges employed awarded the cream of the prizes to fruit grown in British Columbia. This conclusively proves that we can grow as good apples as any in Hood River, Wanchetee or any other district in Oregon or Washington that competed with us. Despite this fact, however, the Hood River fruit growers realized at that time $3.75 per box for their best fruit, whilst we had to be content with some $2 for our best and the too often being put to great expense in storage accommodation and great loss through the rotting of a certain percentage of the fruit thus stored. The cause of this is not far to seek and can certainly be remedied.

"At Hood River the Fruit Packers' Union—gangs of expert packers and graders—visit the orchards and there, by the aid of modern appliances, grade and pack the fruit. Consequently each box of No. 1 apples consists of perfect specimens only of even size and carefully wrapped in paper, perfectly packed so as to bear transportation without injury, and they have also the 'union label' on the box, an indisputable guarantee of perfect quality true to label.

"Now take our conditions. Each man frequently packs his own apples, a fatal mistake, as he probably knows little or nothing about how it is done. Also the temptation to slip in an odd apple of an inferior grade is often too strong to be resisted, with the natural result that the fruit is by no means up to standard, and consequently realizes only a small price. We have also a large number of small co-operative associations all dumping their fruit in the market at once, regardless of one another, consequently flooding the market and cutting prices still further. "This is inevitable under present arrangements, as lack of storage room compels them to sell out the stock as

The Hard-Headed Business Man Insists on a high degree of "fitness" in his employees.

That means proper co-ordination between brain and body, and for its best realization there must be care in the matter of food. A well-balanced diet is essential—one easily digestible and rich in nerve-building material. Very often the result of improper food is seen in indigestion, "brain-fag," nervousness and general inefficiency.

Grape-Nuts

a delicious food made of whole wheat and malted barley, is admirably adapted for brain workers; for included in its rich nutriment, are the vital mineral elements—phosphate of potash, etc., grown by Nature in the grains. These mineral elements are absolutely essential to well-balanced bodies, brains and nerves, but are often lacking in much of the food that goes to make up the usual dietary. A daily ration of Grape-Nuts along with other food is just the thing to put one in fine fettle.

Where Are My Glasses?

The double vision glasses I make will relieve you from the annoyance of mistaking your glasses. They also do away with the necessity of having two pairs of glasses, as the distance and reading portions are ground in one solid piece.

I have my own lens grinding and quick repair department.

BELIEVED NOTE ON WAY TO WASHINGTON

Thought in Berlin Reply Handed to Gerard This Afternoon

Berlin, May 4.—The reply to the American note on submarine warfare is believed to have been handed to Ambassador Gerard this afternoon. Considerable perturbation is expressed over the effect which the concessions may have on public opinion here. Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, undoubtedly will have the great mass of the people with him in a desire to avoid a break in diplomatic relations with the United States so far as can be done without sacrificing the principle enunciated in the German manifesto of February 8.

The chancellor, with Admiral von Holtzendorf, head of the naval general staff, Dr. Kurt Helfferich, the secretary of the treasury, and other participants in the council at headquarters, returned to Berlin early this morning. The note with its explanation of the German attitude toward the British "starvation policy," will be one of the longest diplomatic documents of the war. It will be released for publication here in all probability on Friday morning.

Washington, May 4.—Germany's manifesto of Feb. 8, to the principles of which press dispatches from Berlin indicate, the German government adheres in its reply to the American note, is assumed by officials of the state department to be the memorandum of that date declaring that in future all armed merchant ships of belligerent nations would be considered warships subject to attack without warning.

GERMANS ADMIT LOSS OF ZEPPELIN L-20

Give Play to Imagination in Reporting Raid Tuesday Night

Berlin, May 4.—The admiralty gave out the following account to-day of the Zeppelin raid over England on Tuesday night: "A German naval air squadron on the night of May 3-4 attacked the middle and northern parts of the east coast of England. Factories, blast furnaces and railroads near Middlesbrough and Stockton, industrial establishments near Sunderland, the fortified port of Hartlepool, the coast batteries south of the River Tees and British men-of-war at the entrance of the Firth of Forth were attacked with many bombs. The success of these attacks was witnessed. "All our airships, notwithstanding the fact that they were shelled heavily, returned to their home ports with the exception of a strong southern wind, was driven off her course to the north, and getting into difficulties at sea, was lost off Stavanger. The whole crew is safe."

Aeroplanes. Regarding the recent attacks by aeroplanes on the English coast and in the Baltic, the statement says: "On the afternoon of May 3 a German naval aeroplane successfully attacked a British coast battery near Sandwich, south of the mouth of the Thames, and the aeronautic station west of Deal. "In the Baltic naval aeroplanes are being engaged. Our aero squadron again dropped bombs and scored several hits on the Russian battleship Slava and a submarine of the enemy at Moonson. "The aerial attack of the enemy on the German coast station at Pilsen caused no military damage. "A German submarine on April 29 shot down a British aeroplane off the coast of Flanders. The occupants of the aeroplane were rescued by an enemy destroyer."

LORD KITCHENER READ TOWNSEND'S DISPATCH

London, May 4.—In the House of Lords to-day Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, secretary for war, warmly eulogized Maj.-Gen. Townsend, and the defenders of Kut-el-Amara, and read Maj.-Gen. Townsend's last dispatch, which was as follows: "We are pleased to know that we have done our duty and recognize that our situation is one of the fortunes of war. We thank you, Gen. Gorringe (commander of the British relief army), and all ranks of the Tigris force for the great efforts you have made to save us. "Imminent starvation compelled the surrender of Kut-el-Amara. I added Lord Kitchener, and adverse elements alone denied success to the relief force."

STATES WILL ACCEPT GENERALS' AGREEMENT

Provides for Co-operation in Chasing Bandits and Withdrawal of Troops

Washington, May 4.—The American government is ready to accept, in its main points, the agreement for the future pursuit of Villa and his bandits drawn up by Gen. Obregon, the Carranza minister of war, and Maj.-Gen. Scott, representing the United States. This was decided at a conference today between President Wilson and Secretary Baker.

Formal announcement of the position of the American government will not be given until Gen. Carranza has had opportunity to pass on the report submitted to him by Gen. Obregon. The agreement provides for co-operation between American troops and Carranza soldiers in clearing Northern Mexico of bandits. Mexican railroads will be utilized for the transportation of supplies for the American troops. While no time limit is set for the withdrawal of the American troops from Mexico, that will be done as soon as there are definite instructions that American border towns are no longer in danger of raids.

London, May 4.—A dispatch to Lloyd's from Tenerife, Canary Islands, says that the German steamship Teide drifted seaward during a gale and was captured by a cruiser, which towed her northward. No membership Teide is listed in maritime records. The vessel probably was interned at Tenerife, a Spanish port.

F. B. CARVELL ASKS SCOPE BE ENLARGED

Brings Up in House Matter of Instructions to Fuse Commission

DEBATE TO TAKE PLACE AT SITTING TOMORROW

Ottawa, May 4.—When the House met this afternoon, F. B. Carvell, Liberal, Carleton, N. B., was on hand for the first time since the Meredith-Fuse commission commenced its inquiry, for the purpose of asking that the powers of the commission be enlarged. In order to do this he moved the adjournment of the House.

Mr. Carvell expressed regret that he had not had time to give notice of his intention, but the time had been too brief since the adjournment of the commission at one o'clock to-day. The member for Carleton explained that at the session this forenoon, when E. F. B. Johnston, K. C., Liberal, moved, was cross examining Brig.-Gen. Bertram, who was chairman of the shell committee, the commission had ruled that questions could not be asked because they did not come within the scope of the inquiry as set forth by the order in council. The commissioners had made the statement that it might be desirable to consult parliament with the object of having the scope of the instructions enlarged. He realized that there could only be no discussion to-day, as it was a matter which could not be decided at once.

Hon. Robert Rogers, who was leading in Sir Robert Borden's absence, said that it would be necessary to have all the facts before the House before a debate could take place. It was necessary that the members should know all that had taken place before the commission. Then the matter could be discussed more intelligently. He suggested that Mr. Carvell allow his motion to stand over until to-morrow, when the printed evidence taken by the commission would be available. It was then agreed between Mr. Rogers and Mr. Carvell that the matter would be discussed when the House meets to-morrow.

LETTERS FROM BUSY GERMANS IN STATES

Thousands Sent to Congressmen Urging Break With Berlin Be Avoided

Washington, May 4.—Printed form letters protesting against any step which may lead to war with Germany began pouring in by the thousand today upon members of congress as the sequel to the telegraph propaganda which swamped the capital and the telegraph companies last week. Even the names of the congressmen were printed on the envelopes. Everything gave evidence that the letters had been prepared by thousands and required only written signatures. Senator Huston, of Wisconsin, who has sought a department of justice investigation of the propaganda, received letters to-day which, he said, added evidence to his charge that the American embargo conference was behind the movement.

BRITISH MERCHANT MARINE IS OF SAME SIZE AS BEFORE WAR

London, May 4.—Earl Curzon, lord privy seal, announced in the House of Lords that a total of 450 enemy ships had been detained, seized or captured by the allies in all parts of the world since the beginning of the war. He added that the British merchant ships lost through war operations were exactly balanced in number and tonnage by the new ships added to the register since the war began.

FORMER MINISTER OF U. S. A PLOTTER

James M. Sullivan Arrested in Dublin on Charge of Complicity

U. S. REPRESENTATIVE IN SANTO DOMINGO

London, May 4.—James M. Sullivan, of New York, formerly American minister to Santo Domingo, has been arrested in Dublin on a charge of complicity in the Irish rebellion.

Sullivan sailed from New York last July for Liverpool with his wife and son, saying he was going to Limerick, Ireland, to visit his mother. He said he expected to be back in New York by September 1. Shortly before he sailed, Sullivan was virtually asked to resign his post as minister to the Dominican republic as the result of an investigation conducted by a commission headed by Senator Phelan, of California. Testimony taken by the commission during its investigation was to the effect that the minister was interested in contracts in which other Americans were concerned. No evidence was found that he had profited.

The commission, which was appointed by the state department, found that he had been guilty of indiscretions which unfitted him for his place. On July 23 it was announced that he had resigned. Sullivan had been a lawyer for Jack Ross, one of the gamblers in the Rosenthal murder case. His appointment generally was credited to former Secretary Bryan, who in looking for a place for him wrote Receiver General Vick, in the Dominican republic, asking "what positions you have at your disposal with which to reward deserving Democrats."

Sullivan was exonerated once by Secretary Bryan, but the charge against him would not down and a second investigation resulted in his resignation. Sullivan was born in Killarney, Ireland, in 1873.

HE WROTE LETTER; NO SYMPATHY NOW

Robt. Hazelton, Toronto, Made Objectionable Statements About Canadian Troops

Toronto, May 4.—Robert Hazelton, formerly of Todmorden, now a resident of Toronto, appeared before the York township council to-day asking compensation for damage done to his property in Todmorden on the night when his neighbors expressed in an emphatic manner their displeasure at the letter he had written to Senator Chouinard of Quebec, slandering Canadian troops. Hazelton stated that his house had been damaged badly, and he believed that it was the duty of the township council to make the necessary repairs. On the other hand, the members of the council received his complaint with ill-concealed mirth, and one of the councillors said that he considered Mr. Hazelton to be an exceptionally lucky man to have escaped as easily as he had. The petitioner was asked to take his complaint to the police board.

TURKISH TROOPS ARE BEING CONCENTRATED TO DEFEND SMYRNA

Paris, May 4.—Turkish troops are being concentrated at Smyrna, according to dispatches from Athens received here by the Havas Agency. The dispatches state that General Liman von Sanders has arrived at Smyrna to superintend the defence of the Asiatic coast.

TO-DAY'S TRADING ON THE WINNIPEG MARKET

Winnipeg, May 4.—Wheat dropped 1/2c for May, 1/2c for July and 2/3c for October. Oats closed 1/2c lower for May, 1/2c down for July and unchanged for October. Barley dropped 1/2c and flax was 1/2c lower for May and 2/3c lower for July. In the local pit there was very little good buying. Exporters displayed little interest in the market. The fine weather was held responsible for the weak market. Minneapolis started the ball with some aggressive selling by the shorts there and Winnipeg and Chicago followed. News from the winter crop districts continued to be bearish, yet local supporters said that although there was no trade there was a better inquiry from buyers than for some time. In the cash trade there was an excellent inquiry for No. 1 and No. 2, with lower grades a little off. Offerings were very light. The demand in oats was good, with offerings light and premiums unchanged.

MONTREAL STOCKS

(By F. A. Borden & Co.) Montreal, May 4.—The local market was more active and looked as though it was going higher, but the uncertainties of the Wall street market held it in check. The steel issues were strong in the early session, Scotia Steel gaining four dollars, but half of this was lost when the American market became weak. There was a good demand for Montreal Power during the afternoon session and the demand for bonds was good at higher prices. Smelters became quite active and gained two points.

BEARS GIVEN BEST OF TREATMENT AT SESSION

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.) Chicago, May 4.—Outstanding bearishness ruled in wheat activity, prices breaking fully two cents and meeting with only scant support at the hands of bull interests. Whether or not the probable tenor of the forthcoming Teuton reply to Washington was affecting sentiment was not easy to gauge. In any case, green buy talk was stale enough to have nearly no effect at all on the market and various other strong items, such as restricted acreage and poor quality of growing grain, were negligible influences.

New York, May 4.—The tendency was lower in most directions. There was little of cheer in the news of marketwise bearing. Discussions of course centered on international politics and labor difficulties. It was said that interests with German affiliation were identified among the sellers, but a goodly portion of the pressure appeared to be of bearish origin. While forecasts were circulated as to the probable contents of Berlin's reply, still it appeared that nothing official had been learned and that the committee was largely the result of imagination. It seems likely, however, that the reply will be delayed for several days, and that the Teutons will attempt a further parley.

WORLD-WIDE

THE GOOD YEAR MADE IN CANADA

THE Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.—of Canada—of the United States—of Great Britain—of South Africa—of Australasia—of South America—of Mexico—have you ever realized the tremendous ramifications of these world-wide institutions that are supplying better tires for every nation? All of these corporations do not, as yet, manufacture but purchase from The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. of Canada and the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. of Akron, tires being shipped continuously from Bowmanville, Ont., and Akron, Ohio.

KINGSWAY—Aramburu—Escolta—Calle del Bruch—Clarence Street, Sydney—Flinders Street, Melbourne—Burg Street, Capetown—Mercer Street, Wellington—Clive Street, Calcutta—just a few of the over fifty streets in over fifty countries where there are Goodyear centres. Goodyear service, like Goodyear Tires, is universal. Ninety per cent. of the motorists of the world are within less than 12 hours reach of Goodyear service.

From Every Corner of the Earth Comes the Call for Goodyear Tires

ON the sun-baked veldts of South Africa—on the snow-clad Himalayas—in the sands of Egypt's deserts—on the wind-swept steppes of Russia—in quiet hamlets—in the roaring metropolises—in the jungles and forests—on the plains and prairies—yes, and on the muddied battlefields of Flanders—wherever man has built a road you will find the track of the All-Weather Tread.

Goodyear tires have conquered every climate—conquered every condition an automobile tire has to meet. Goodyears spin merrily along the smooth roads of western countries. Goodyears plow sturdily through the sands of desert and southern lands. Goodyears cling close to the icy roads of the bitter north. Goodyears carry their precious load of wounded safely through the pitch-black night in rain-soaked France. Wherever you go you find Goodyears supreme. For Goodyears have won—won over Nature's greatest obstacles—won over man's abuse. Goodyear—the international tire.

From East to West—From North to South—The Proof of Goodyear Prestige

Here at home—in far countries—wherever and whenever men want a better tire they say Goodyear. In this universal demand lies the proof of Goodyear supremacy—in every quality that makes for satisfaction—in value. Because men know these qualities we must maintain representation in over fifty foreign cities. In every great metropolis of the world—London, New York, Copenhagen, The Hague, Christiania, Lisbon, Bucharest, Stockholm, Calcutta, Mexico City, Tokio, Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires—a long list. Go to the Far East. The demand for Goodyears has made the sign of the winged foot familiar in Gochome Kobikicho Kyobashi St., Tokio—in Escolta St., Manila—in Calcutta, in Madeira, in Java, in Suva, in Singapore—in every city and town—wherever the motor car has made its mark.

Note Europe. In the capitals of the warring nations—in the cities of those in peace—in Kingsway, London, and in Schweizergasse, Zurich—in Champs Elysées, Paris, and Calle del Bruch, Barcelona—north, south, east and west, the cry is for Goodyears. And it is the same all over the world—in the two Americas, in Africa, in Australasia, in the islands of the south and of the north. Goodyears are praised in every language. Goodyear—the universal tire.

The Tire That Stood the Tests

In every country—somewhere—you will find bad roads. And in every country you will find Goodyears to combat those bad roads. Go north where snow attacks a tire—go south where water and mud are the bane of the motorist—go to the cities where oil creates havoc.

GOOD YEAR MADE IN CANADA

North, south—everywhere—Goodyears.

Note the costly cars—tired with Goodyears for aristocratic appearance. Note the low-priced cars—universal, on the road by hundreds—tired with Goodyears for economy.

In Winter—a tire that combats skidding. In Summer—a tire that will plow through sand and mud. All the year round—Goodyears. The verdict of thousands of motorists—Goodyears, the faultless tire.

Every Man's Tire—YOUR Tire

Can you afford to disregard this overwhelming approval? Can you honestly set at naught the experienced judgment of these thousands of motorists?

Follow the trail of the All-Weather Tread. Equip your car with Goodyears "Made in Canada." You will get more service, more mileage, more satisfaction. You will belong to a great international army that covers the globe.

VICE-PRESIDENT OF WELCOME CLUB RESIGNS

Following Dispute With Secretary, Rev. A. de B. Owen Leaves Meeting

The Returned Soldiers Welcome Committee last night lost its vice-president, Rev. A. de B. Owen, who resigned after failing to secure the appointment of a new secretary in place of John Day. A successor was not appointed, and Mr. Owen is to be written to by the secretary and asked to withdraw his resignation and return to the work of welcoming returned soldiers. Mr. Owen left the meeting when it was about half over, saying he would have nothing more to do with the committee.

The matter came up on the reading of a letter from Mrs. Annie Croft, who requested that a new secretary be appointed.

The meeting then filed Mrs. Croft's letter, following a statement by Mr. Day that she had only attended two of the meetings of the committee.

Military Bands.

It was decided that Col. J. Duff Stuart, district officer commanding, should be asked for permission to make arrangements with the militia units for the services of a band on each occasion that soldiers returning from the front arrive here. This was following a statement of Howard Miller, the Pantages performer, regarding the splendid results obtained from the use of a band to welcome men who returned to Calgary. The

The pleasure derived from this satisfies him personally, and if the committee feels that it would like to appoint someone else to take up these duties the secretary will be pleased to turn the same over to a successor, having only accepted this position with a view of doing his best to help the returning soldiers.

Confidence was expressed in Mr. Day, and speakers commended his energy and tact in dealing with the soldiers. He was asked to continue in office, which he consented to do.

The following new members were added to the committee: Lester Patrick, representing the Rotary Club; Mrs. Harry Shaw and Messrs. W. Duncan and David Milne.

FROZEN MEAT EXPORT WILL BE RESTRICTED

Visitor From New Zealand Says Supplies Are to Be Curtailed

"There will be a diminishing export of New Zealand frozen meat to Canada owing to the demands of the imperial authorities and local requirements in the Island Dominion." This is the opinion of Albert Kaye, managing director of Kaye & Carter, Ltd., wholesale meat exporters, of Christchurch, N. Z. Mr. Kaye passed through en route to London on R. M. S. Niagara last evening.

"The imperial government," he stated, "has taken over a large amount of meat for feeding the troops. The balance is controlled, at any rate so far as price and distribution are concerned, by the New Zealand government, which only allows exports of limited quantities of meat. These quantities are filling part of the holds of the Canadian-Australian steamers, though the diminished cargo space is now occupied with wool, for which there is a tremendous demand. In New Zealand we know exactly what we shall have to pay for meat when we go to market, as the government has standardized the meat prices. Naturally these prices have risen.

"There is considerable shortage of tennage space, and the government has been making recommendations to the imperial government for the release of traders commandeered for war service. Recently, one large ship which had been commandeered was sent as an imperial ship to London. The directors of the freezing companies have endeavored to avoid suspension of slaughtering, which was necessary last year owing to restricted space on ships. The Overseas Shipping Committee have organized a system of distribution of available space, and the carcasses are being frozen as the steamers arrive to remove them to ports overseas.

"On the other hand, the appreciation in value of foodstuffs which are the staple exports of New Zealand has brought considerable prosperity to the islands, and conditions on the whole are satisfactory.

"A war cabinet of both parties has been formed. It is understood that as soon as parliament adjourns Mr. Massey, the premier, and Sir Joseph Ward will leave for London to confer with the British government. They will probably come by the Canadian route, though secrecy is being maintained as to the impending departure.

"The people in New Zealand accept the withdrawal from the Gallipoli peninsula with resignation, and although the loss of life was great, the majority think that circumstances, when the full history of the war is known, will justify that ill-fated expedition. The quota of reinforcements is being maintained for the New Zealand troops overseas.

Mr. Kaye has been in British Columbia several times before, and is thoroughly familiar with conditions on this side of the Pacific. He remarked that the butter trade with British Columbia has become one of the leading factors of New Zealand industry.

LACK OF FACILITIES IS PERIL TO HEALTH

Unavoidable Delay in Providing Sewerage Affects Districts Around City Boundary

The discussion in Saanich council on Tuesday with regard to the lack of sewerage facilities in the Burnside road district draws attention to the unavoidable delay in submitting a by-law to the ratepayers for a sewerage distribution service. That the council will be forced next year into the policy of submitting a by-law seems inevitable unless the risk of an epidemic in the thickly settled section is to be run. A dry summer like that of last year only increases the liability.

As the northwest sewer has progressed, and is within a month or two of completion, the time is rapidly coming when the district municipality can be called upon to make good its percentage cost of contribution. That percentage of course cannot be paid till the municipal council has a by-law passed to vote the funds, and to lay down the distributing system throughout the sewerage area. Thus till the money is forthcoming, the suburban sections of Saanich on the northwest boundary will be in identically the same position as the sections in the northeast now are, or an intake at the boundary to which no connections can be made till the contribution is paid to the city. The northeast sewer question is complicated by the intrusion of the claim from Oak Bay for part cost of construction, a claim which the Saanich council resents on the ground that its liability is limited to the amount verbally agreed upon with the city in 1911, but apparently never formally embodied in any exchange of documents. There has been no break in the deadlock so far as the northeast system is concerned. In the northwest system the issue is straightforward. The municipality will pay a percentage equivalent to the extra dimensions of the sewer due to care for its sewerage, as owing to the configuration of the ground, the sewerage must pass through the city area, and that of Esquimalt to reach tide water. A draft agreement embracing the terms of past negotiations was drawn up by the city solicitor in January, but no progress is reported, nor in fact has it been expected till the city had completed its system, with the necessary crossing of the Victoria Arm.

The maintenance expenditure will be on the same basis as the northeast sewer, being a percentage of the cost of operation. Some limit will be placed on the amount of sewerage to be allowed to enter the intake per hour. The object of the agreement mentioned above is to have some basis upon which the terms of use can be intelligently discussed. There will be no confusion such as has arisen in the northeast sewer case owing to lack of definite records, as the northwest agreement has been in order from the first.

Meanwhile in summing up the situation, if an outbreak of zymotic disease occurred this summer, it would prove a difficult matter to cope with, and might easily spread into the city limits. There are many acres stretching from the Colquitz river to Mt. Tolmie road covered with straggling buildings which require both sewerage and water, and which have only the latter in immediate prospect.

COMPENSATION

What About Precedent?

The granting of compensation on account of the arbitrary action of governments which interfere with the business of licensed premises is neither a new or novel idea.

What Did Switzerland Do?

When the Swiss General Assembly on June 4, 1910, prohibited the sale of absinthe, it also provided for the payment of indemnity as compensation to those who had made investments in the business.

What Did France Do?

When the French Chamber of Deputies in February, 1915, prohibited the sale of absinthe, although the prohibition was merely a war measure, provision was made for compensation to the parties having investments in the business, the award being 14,800,000 francs.

What Did England Do?

As previously noted at length in this space, the Licensing Act of Great Britain admits the principle of compensation in the case of arbitrary refusal to renew licenses and makes provision for the payment of such award.

Would not British Columbia be merely "keeping step" with the times if its authorities included a Compensation clause in the Prohibition referendum?

As fair-minded men, the electors of British Columbia are asked to consider this question.
